A Survey of Multiple Precision Computation Using Floating-Point Arithmetic

Christoph Lauter

Christoph.Lauter@ens-lyon.fr

We survey the implementation of double-double arithmetic or higher precision arithmetic, based on floating-point numbers and operations. We illustrate the use of this multiple precision arithmetic through the implementation of CR-libm, our library of correctly rounded mathematical functions.